Hello!

Welcome to all new MBP BizMajic subscribers.

I have been in internet marketing now for close to 8 years and have owned my own company with my business partner for going into our 8th year. Through this time I have seen the evolution of the internet and the awe-inspiring changes in many close associates including my own.

Many of my subscribers are what many refer to as "newbies", those that are new to the internet and looking to bring in that extra income to help with the household expenses. It is these "newbies" that will help bring a new look and feel to the internet and internet marketing. Each new person brings to the table fresh ideas and methods of achieving the success we all are looking for.

The best advice I can give any "newbie" or internet marketer is to follow your dreams, have a business plan, research your ideas and then jump in with both feet. You have to let your ambition and knowledge over-rule your fear of failure. I have found that those that sit back and wait for the boat to come in are rather disappointed.

Are you one that sits and waits? Are you one that expects to put nothing into your business and expect to get a nice retirement income? Or are you one that has a plan of action in place and each day you are working towards fulfilling that plan?

We all know in order to have a successful business whether you are creating your own products or a distributor for another company's products, it takes time, expenses and determination. You can not expect to create a nice income for yourself without investing in yourself, in your business and also in your ideas. Nothing in life is free and nothing comes without working hard for it.

So next time you are evaluating a new product, opportunity or marketing method and there is an expense involved and you are hesitant on spending this cash. You need to ask yourself, is it the fear of failure that is overruling your business desires and goals and is it time to start investing in yourself and in your future.

Without investment, a business can not get off the ground. Time and money is your investment, choose how you use it and do not let fear of failure rule your business decision. Without trying you will never know if you can succeed.

Success is there for the taking! You CONTROL your own destiny. So get into the drivers seat and GO forward!

Smile... Be happy and Live life to the fullest.

Enjoy your weekend and tune in next time for another informative issue of MBP BizMajic News.

Are You A Loser? What Do You Do That Winners Don't?

Author: David Allred

I think the more appropriate phrase should be along lines of, "Winners do what losers don't." Successful people are willing to do what the unsuccessful were unwilling to do. How many times have you personally come across a business or an opportunity that you knew would be profitable and successful, but lacked the courage to invest the money or to step into the unknown? I can tell you what...you are not alone in that. About 90% of the population lacks the courage to move forward without fear or doubt. In fact, most successful entrepreneurs are driven by something else. They are driven by their ambition, not their fear of failure. The moment that your ambition and your drive drowns out your fear of failure, then you are on your way.

Let's see...what do the successful do that the unsuccessful don't? Most successful people make decisions quickly, and change their minds slowly. Instead of allowing the one thing that will hinder their progress to come in, they act. That one thing is fear. That word keeps lingering in. Fear will destroy any dream.

Most successful people are in the office working, even when they don't feel up to it. It is consistency that brings results in any endeavor. Do you think that Michael Jordan made it to the NBA off of pure talent? No! He had to work at it every day. He had to practice and practice. If you haven't, you should pick up one of his books and read it. MJ was the best because of his choice to be consistent at making himself better.

Most successful people were just one difficult decision away from breaking free into success. But yet, they move forward. They gather the facts, overcome any pride or doubt, and put one foot in front of the other. I would bet that every single person in this entire world is faced with a decision that will change their lives forever, for the better, but fails to make a decision based on a current circumstance they happened to be going through. How are things ever going to change if you don't allow them to. Things will always come up that will stand in your way. That is life. But the ones who win, and succeed, are the ones that can decide to press forward through all of the dust into fresh air.

What? This business costs money to start? YES! Tell me now. How does that make you feel. Are you ready to run? Of course a business will cost money. That is a good thing. That usually means that someone is making money from it. And in the business I will teach you, that person is you! If you come across a business that is free to start....run. You will not make any real money. To be successful, be prepared to invest money into yourself. If you are afraid to invest then it's simple what the problem is. The business in not the problem.....you just don't believe in yourself!

To sum it all up, winners are winners because of the things they do. Losers will be losers because of what they chose not to do. So you see, life is a choice. You either choose to do or choose not to do. That my friend, will determine who you are. Everyone is born a winner. You choose what you become from That point on!

JOKE OF THE WEEK

The Big Race

A Japanese company (Toyota) and an American company (General Motors) decided to have a canoe race on the Missouri River. Both teams practiced long and hard to reach their peak performance before the race.

On the big day, the Japanese won by a mile.

The Americans, very discouraged and depressed, decided to investigate the reason for the crushing defeat. A management team made up of senior management was formed to investigate and recommend appropriate action. Their conclusion was the Japanese had 8 people rowing and 1 person steering, while the American team had 8 people steering and 1 person rowing.

Feeling a deeper study was in order, American management hired a consulting company and paid them a large amount of money for a second opinion. They advised, of course, that too many people were steering the boat, while not enough people were rowing.

Not sure of how to utilize that information, but wanting to prevent another loss to the Japanese, the rowing team's management structure was totally reorganized to 4 steering supervisors, 3 area steering superintendents and 1 assistant superintendent steering manager. They also implemented a new performance system that would give the 1 person rowing the boat greater incentive to work harder. It was called the 'Rowing Team Quality First Program,' with meetings, dinners and free pens For the rower. There was discussion of getting new paddles, canoes and other equipment, extra vacation days for practices and bonuses.

The next year the Japanese won by two miles.

Humiliated, the American management laid off the rower for Poor performance, halted development of a new canoe, sold The paddles, and canceled all capital investments for new equipment. The money saved was distributed to the Senior Executives as bonuses and the next year's racing team was out-sourced to India.

Computer Tip Of the Week

(I)

Provided by Computer Tips and Techniques

Q:

I think I need to add some memory to my computer, but I have no idea where to start. Can you give me some basic information on where to get it and how to install it? It would be greatly appreciated!

A:

Well, I sure can! That's no problem at all. We've all run into this predicament before and believe me, if you haven't yet, you will someday. Here's the scenario: your computer seems to be working just fine, but as each day passes, it starts to run a little bit slower, it freezes up more often, it hesitates whenever you try to do something, etc. If you're experiencing anything like that, it may be time to add some more memory to your good ol' computer.

Now, I realize that the thought of that may panic you, but don't let it. Adding memory to your computer really isn't as hard as it sounds. With a little help, you can be a memory adding pro in no time at all! You just have to take it in steps. First, you need to make sure that you really do need more memory (because if that's not going to help your computer, there's no need in wasting your time); second, you just need to find out where you can get more memory and third, you need to learn how to install it. Lucky for all of you, I'm going to go over all of that with you in the next couple of days. I will go over parts one and two with you today and then finish up with part three tomorrow. Alright, let's get started!

Part 1

The type of memory you're referring to is called RAM (Random Access Memory). RAM is the temporary working memory that your operating system, programs and documents use to keep your computer running. Over the years, the amounts of RAM that most computers have has grown considerably. It used to be that 32 or 64 MB was plenty, but these days, if you don't have at least 512 MB, you're going to get lost in the dark.

When you're using different applications on your computer all at the same time (for example, you're checking your e-mail, you're listening to some music, you're loading a game, etc.), they are all fighting for enough RAM to be able to run for you. As you can see, if you don't have enough RAM to accommodate all your programs, you're going to run into some problems. Your computer sometimes grabs some of your virtual memory to keep things going, but that is much less efficient than actually having the right amount of RAM on your computer. So, if your computer has been acting funny lately, adding some more RAM should put it back in top performance.

Once you've made the decision to purchase more memory, you first need to figure out how much more you're going to need. To do that, you need to find out how much your computer has right now. In Windows, you can check that by going to Start, Control Panel, System. Browsing through that area will also tell you what kind of RAM is recommended for your PC. If you already have a pretty good amount of memory (say, 512 MB), you may only need to add another 256 MB. You don't want to add too much, because your processor may not be able to handle it all. Plus, that would just be a waste of money.

You can buy RAM at most regular computer stores (Radio Shack, etc.), but you can also purchase it online. If you do a search for the type of RAM you need on your favorite search engine, you should be able to find several places you can buy it from. Just make sure the site is secure before you place your order and everything should be fine. Again, every computer is different, so just make sure you're getting the right kind for your PC. Most places will have a phone number you can call to verify that everything is correct for your computer type.

Once you've received your RAM, you're ready to install it. As I said before, I will go over that with you tomorrow. (I love keeping you in suspense!) So, be sure to tune in tomorrow for all the information you'll need to know to add that memory to your computer. You'll be up and running in no time. See you soon!

Until next week, stay safe out there
